Welcome to Integration Insight for Students. This is a weekly series to update you on all things integration.

Students are a primary and critical group involved in the integration process. You are represented through your elected representatives in student government and fellow students serving as Student Trustees.

FAST FACTS ON INTEGRATION

Here are some questions students are asking about integration.

Will I have less access to academic programs after integration?

- No. All students will benefit from access to a greater range of academic programs than any single university can offer. At LHU, students will have access to nearly double the program options than they currently do now.
- This means more choices when it’s time to build your schedule so you can keep momentum toward graduation.

How will integration impact internships?
After integration, students will have access to a broader range of internships and other experiential opportunities throughout Pennsylvania and beyond. This access will help you build a resume and graduate career-ready.

What academic programs will be available after integration?
- Students recently received a survey from the Provosts. This is a reminder to complete the 10-minute anonymous survey (Student survey) by April 5th.
- Your feedback will help inform future drafts of the program array.

NAMING SURVEY

Thank you to everyone who completed the integration naming survey! Your valuable feedback will help guide us to understand potential risks and advantages presented with each option.

As a reminder, the name Lock Haven University will not change. The survey examined potential names for the accredited entity. We have had some questions about what an “accredited entity” is, and below is a sample of how that might look on Middle States paperwork or an official transcript. Diplomas from each institution will continue to display the names of each university.
