I. Strategic Priorities for Academic Affairs and Athletics 2018-19

This report continues the focus, taken up in 2017-18, on achieving the right size, right programs, and right staffing levels with a view to advancing the mission and strategic plan at Lock Haven University. It further updates the Council on University progress on strategic priorities for 2018-19 emerging from a deep review of assessment data and aligned with the University Strategic Plan. The evidence-based actions in response to the assessments are not comprehensive but are representative of initiatives and processes being undertaken to drive improvement in Strategic Plan key indicators.

*Indicates new or developing initiatives deriving from ongoing planning and assessment and/or President’s priorities

II. Strategic Plan Assessment

The University devised a three-year cycle of assessments of Key Performance Indicators for the Strategic Plan. Some of those indicators need better / more valid measures created, which the Provost needs to complete. Some measures still need annual and 2022 targets. We have, further, begun to develop a public presentation of the plan that will anticipate an annual (or more likely, a mid-plan) president’s report on progress.

Our strategies, measures, and targets are likely to be directly affected by data-informed system redesign and a new system strategic plan. We need to be prepared to be nimble and to utilize more sophisticated disaggregation of data to chart our progress and plan actions to drive improvement.

III. Academic Program Array

We have a lot of ‘irons in the fire’. Provost and Deans need to a) prioritize, b) monitor alignment of resources with program planning, c) use gap data prudently to do budget and enrollment projections, and d) keep the total program array in view to advance our mission and identity as a high quality university that prepares graduates not only for their first job but also for a life of professional advancement and civic engagement.

IV. School of Nursing and expansion of nursing programs

We were very fortunate to contract with Dean Steven Cavanagh from the UMass Amherst College of Nursing. He will slow down the planning to some degree because he will support a sophisticated analysis of the data for expansion and will assist nursing faculty in integrating the curricula effectively to support high quality outcomes and control instructional costs.

Expansion of the ASN to Lock Haven is contingent on funding and location for a Sim Lab.

V. Middle States Commission

Three team members attended the Middle States Self-Study Institute November 5-7 – Dr. Cori Myers, who will co-chair the Steering Committee, Provost Donna Wilson, the other co-chair, and Ms. Amy DiCello, University Controller. In order to be ready for the site visit in the early spring of 2021, this year the University needs to:

- Educate the University community widely on the revised standards and the new process
- Constitute the self study committee
- Determine the key priorities and the basic framework for the self study
VI. Athletics

The Athletics Department will begin the search for a part-time coach for Women’s Tennis, who is anticipated to begin in January 2019 to recruit for the 2019-20 academic year. A search for a part-time coach for Women’s Golf will commence in the spring for an anticipated start date of July 2019 to recruit for the 2010-21 academic year. The two additional women’s sports will add approximately 20 female athletes to our rosters and support our goal of achieving and sustaining Substantial Proportionality and, thus, meeting Prong 1.

The AD has made changes in processes for funding athletic gear and practice apparel to support compliance with the Title IX ‘laundry list’. He is actively monitoring locker room conditions, distribution of foundation sponsorships, and named scholarships with a view to equity.
Finance & Administration Division
Report for the Council of Trustees Meeting
November 16, 2018

Division Highlights

Financial Statements

The annual financial audit was completed over the summer and the financial statements will be reviewed by the outside audit firm, CliftonLarsonAllen (CLA) at the COT meeting. Key aspects of the financial results for the year include:

- Operating revenues declined by about $4 million due to enrollment declines.
- Operating expenses were lower by $6.8 million, but $4.5 million of that related to the accounting treatment of pension and retiree health care liabilities. Personnel costs were $1.1 million lower, due mainly to position vacancies that remained unfilled throughout the year. Supplies and services were $940,000 lower.
- Net non-operating revenues increased by $5.4 million, largely due to the absence of the $6.1 million loss on the acquisition of Fairview Suites recorded in the previous year.
- Due to the implementation of GASB 75 dealing with Other Post-Employment Benefits (OPEB), or retiree health care, a $61.9 million liability was recorded, and thus the ending net position was ($60.5 million).
- LHU’s cash balance remained solid at $66.7 million, down slightly ($446,000) from the previous year end.

Robinson Learning Center feasibility study

The feasibility study for the upcoming renovation of the Robinson Learning Center (RLC) is in high gear with stakeholder workshops being conducted to gather input and ideas about how the building would best be renovated. This project is currently in the state system capital funding plan with $17.5 million in design and construction included for release in 2019-20 and $1.7 million in F, F&E included the following year. Our design firm (IKM) is facilitating the workshops with support from a space utilization firm (Comprehensive Facilities Planning).

We are taking the opportunity to expand the scope beyond the required feasibility study of RLC to look more broadly at how space is being utilized in the major academic buildings (including the library), the needs of academic affairs, what department adjacencies are important, and how teaching and learning spaces should be configured to meet the needs of the university over the next 10 to 20 years. In short, we are approaching this as a mini Facilities Master Plan. We also need to identify swing space for the programming in RLC during construction. Opportunities exist for space to be utilized differently and more efficiently, including excess space in the library and the two top floors of Ulmer South that are currently empty (20,000 square feet).

New Director of Facilities

The search for a new Director of Facilities to replace Keith Roush was successfully completed with the hiring of G. Scott McCall. Scott brings over twenty-five years of experience in facilities engineering and construction project management. Most recently, he provided electrical engineering consulting services to state system universities as a member Of the Penn State Facilities Engineering Institute. In that capacity, Scott worked closely with LHU on the planning of its electrical infrastructure upgrade project.
Scott is a licensed Professional Engineer and earned an electrical engineering degree from Penn State. He also is a Certified Educational Facilities Professional (CEFP), a Certified Energy Manager (CEM), and a Six Sigma Black Belt. Please join me in welcoming Scott to Lock Haven University.

Procurement Department

Director of Procurement, Becky Proctor

- A pool of 34 firms have been awarded contracts under the State System Strategic Sourcing marketing services RFP. Five contracts are still pending.

- According to State System Strategic Sourcing, there has been some interest for multiple contracts for branded marketing and promotional materials. The goal of this Qualified Collaborative Contract (QCC) procurement would be to provide a limited number of contracts that offered the most cost effective solutions and the ability to better manage university branded and promotional merchandise. A sample of deliverables would be:

  - Audit and refresh of existing brand and marketing materials
  - Online brand guidelines
  - Provide design templates of specific marketing and promotional items (products, print material, banners, displays, etc.)
  - Propose strategies that will generate university awareness
  - Work within a university’s marketing budget
  - Offer online custom catalog of university materials

This procurement could possibly work in conjunction with QCC Marketing Services contracts.

Special Events and Projects
Manager, Tara Remick

- Successful Homecoming Block Party with over 30 different vendors/clubs/organizations from the community and the University represented, and an estimated attendance in the hundreds (we gave away 650 t-shirts!). The Jaycees supported the event for the fourth year by providing their lights and stage, along with manpower for set up/tear down. The city, particularly chief of police Kristin Smith, provided support with parking restrictions and street closure for the event. River Valley Transit provided bus service for our students from the University to Water St and back for the duration of the event, with the Lock Haven Area YMCA cooperating with us as the Water St bus stop.

- Pre-game homecoming hospitality at the DACC yielded visits from at least 10 alum from out of state who made their way to the DACC before tailgating.

- The University cooperated with the Clinton County Economic Partnership to host their Annual Dinner at the DACC for the 7th year. Feedback from guest and the Partnership was all good, and we have the next CCEP dinner on the DACC calendar for October 2019.

- SECA Campaign ran from September 1 – October 26. While the final results are still be calculated at the time of this email, giving at LHU was up 15% from last year, with total pledges and contributions of about $16,000 (only Bloom, Edinboro, IUP, and West Chester giving more).

- Additional events:
  - The DACC will host Clinton County Veteran’s Affairs for their annual Veteran’s Day Ceremony on November 11
  - The West Penn Power Sustainable Energy Fund will host a community workshop at the DACC on Nov 15 (in cooperation with the SBDC)

- Included are two reports, 2018 Marketing and Student Recruitment Report of Effective Practices and 2018 E-Expectations Trend Report that discusses some of the national issues in admissions. We provided the 2017 reports last year.

Center of Excellence and Inclusion (CEI)
- CEI is planning Spring Orientation for new students coming in January. This one-day orientation is provided to new students to help them be acclimated to life at The Haven.
- CEI, in cooperation with many other departments, hosted a resource fair on the commons. Many campus and community resources had tables to share offered services to assist students. Faculty, staff, and students were able to take advantage of the event to learn more about what is available.
• Students from our CEI mentoring program are investigating the idea of a food pantry. They are working with the community service office and will be soliciting input from faculty and staff. They have completed a review of other state system programs and will be presenting a proposal in the future.

Registrar’s Office
• Spring registration will begin on November 5 for graduate students and November 8 for undergraduate students. Freshman will register after Thanksgiving break. We are doing a registration drive that includes campus signage, social media, and registration buttons for all employees. Training will be offered to new students who have never registered before to assist with the registration process. All students are required to meet with their faculty advisor to be cleared.

Financial Aid
• The Financial Aid office is searching for a new Financial Aid Director. The initial search failed due to lack of qualified candidates. We will be taking advantage of a state system contract and bring in a consultant while we do an expanded search.
• Financial Aid released a new online Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) appeal process. The process is designed to assist students and faculty to help understand and complete the process accurately.

Student Affairs

Community Service
• The annual LHU Hunger Bowl is October 15 – November 16. Many clubs, organizations, and departments participate by donating a variety of nonperishable food items. All donations assist local food programs and pantries.
• The annual Adopt-A-Family will continue in partnership with the Salvation Army. The program will be very similar. Tags will be provided for the family needs. Faculty, staff and students will purchase the items on the tags. The Salvation Army handles determining eligible families and delivering the packages. This partnership ensures that a very popular and valuable activity continues but does not expose the university to any liability resulting from students making deliveries to homes.

Student & Residence Life
• Returning student housing registration begins in November. The pet-friendly pilot is progressing. A press release will be available soon.
• Resident Advisor selection has started for the spring 2019 and fall 2019 semesters. The staff moved the process to be earlier to include both spring and fall to encourage more students to apply.
• QPR Training has been occurring in a variety of settings on campus. QPR is a suicide prevention training that helps save lives and reduce suicidal behaviors by providing innovative, practical, and proven suicide prevention training. Over 20 faculty and staff were trained to provide this training. A new webpage for tracking training sessions and registration is being developed.

- The Bookstore Manager, Jim Kownacki, resigned in mid-October causing SAS, Inc. to review the bookstore operations. Jim had been the store manager for 12 years. Jim’s advice to the SAS Board was to consider a virtual store for textbooks. The President also suggested that SAS review this option when he first arrived at LHU. Jim’s resignation caused the review to be accelerated. Proposals were requested from two different vendors, and the highlights were shared with the SAS Board. The President shared his positive experiences with transitioning to a virtual store. SAS voted at their October meeting to transition to a virtual store for textbooks. It was determined that a committee would review the proposals in detail and meet with the two companies to make a decision. The committee selected MBS Direct. The contract has been signed and the implementation and transition has started. A faculty/staff forum was held on November 1. Additional information will be provided to faculty, staff, and students as the transition continues. Included with this report are MBS Direct brochures that were shared at the open forum and emailed to department chairs.

- Another successful golf-cart parade was held in October as part of Homecoming. Over 55 golf carts participated in the parade and the theme books, books, and more books was very evident in the parade. Winners in each of the five categories: Most Creative, Best Use of Theme, Best Use of Club Purpose & Parade Theme, Judges Choice, and Best Overall will be announced at Leadership Council on November 7. New this year was an invite to our local elementary students to come to the parade. Turnout was very good and the college kids LOVED having the sidewalks lined with young children so they could hand out candy. Pictures are available on the next page.
