The Motion carried with all aye votes cast.

B. REPORTS

Trustee Durrwachter reported there was a meeting of the Executive Committee to discuss personnel and property matters. There were two items discussed that will require action by the Council that will be added to the agenda.

President’s Report
Michael Fiorentino, Jr.

President Fiorentino asked for a moment of silence to honor the passing of Emerita Helen Hummel who served the University as a Founder of the Clearfield Campus, Director of Nursing, and Dean of the Clearfield Campus.

The renovations to the student union building and bookstore are nearly complete, and provides areas designated for student interaction and refreshed computer labs, game room, and meeting rooms. A new entrance has also transformed the building. The University Commons project is almost done with the completion of the construction of the amphitheater. Our students and community members have praised this new space that will be used for many events.

The University collaborated with the Clinton County Arts Festival for their inaugural LH Jams Festival. Provost Wilson and Trustee Coploff were instrumental in the organizing the event which provided both musical and visual arts entertainment for a two-day festival, involving University faculty and students in some of the presentations.
The University has received an acceptance from Middle States of our Periodic Review Report which requires no follow-up report or visit. This significant accomplishment is the result of Provost Wilson and her team in not only making sure the accreditation standards were met, but that they were reported in a professional manner.

The move-in for students was successful and included additional orientations, incorporating the participation of a large number of faculty and staff. President Fiorentino held the annual opening semester meeting for employees and utilized the vice presidents to provide updates specific to their area of responsibility in an effort to present the senior staff and to let others be more familiar with their responsibilities. Provost Wilson and President Fiorentino unveiled the new strategic planning process for the 2017-2022 period and will involve a large representation of campus constituencies and community members.

The Alumni Affairs Office was busy over the summer. Two Spikes baseball games featured an LHU alumni night. Two dedications recognizing the gifts of Mark Stern (Stern Athletic Field) and Ron and JoAnn Bowes (Bowes Hall) brought many alumni to campus. The University also celebrated the 25th anniversary of the Physician Assistant Program by offering workshops for continuing education credits for our alumni and recognizing Dr. Mickey Greenberg for his long-standing contributions to the program.

The celebration of the start of a new academic year was attended by Trustees Durwwachter and Coploff, and brought alum Andrew Salamone back to campus. Mr. Salamone lost his sight at the age of 2 and has been extremely successful professionally with the Defense Intelligence Agency headquartered in Washington, D.C. Mr. Salamone was an active member of the University’s wrestling time as he completed his studies in history. He provided an inspirational message of the importance of resilience and determination.

Academic Affairs Report
Donna Wilson, Provost and Executive Vice President

Dr. Wilson provided an update on some of the strategic initiatives in Academic Affairs, including the identification of a space for a faculty center providing opportunities to bring together resources for faculty development. Academic planning continues to be a significant focus to offer curricular programming that will be effective, keep LHU financially healthy, and meet our mission to provide a robust general education for all students, to provide majors in the liberal arts and sciences, to provide an emphasis on professional programming, and to sustain the historical commitment to experiential learning. As programs are added to accommodate Commonwealth and student needs in the future, resources will need to be realigned and some programs curtailed to maintain fiscal responsibility.

Dr. Wilson explained the collaborative efforts between the divisions of Academic Affairs, Student Affairs, and Enrollment Management to assure student success, including a focus on learning, persistence, and completion. This focus is attained through assessments, high impact practices, specialized programming, first year experience activities, and growth mindset training.

Finance and Administration Report
William Hanelly, Senior Vice President and Chief Operating Officer

Mr. Hanelly reported on the work implemented to reach Strategic Plan Goal 5 which measures linking financial resources and decision making. Sightline is a consulting company which identifies facilities needs on the campus and these needs are woven into the master facilities plan and the strategic plan to complete as financial resources are allocated to those projects. Currently Lock Haven University has exceeded the performance objects of our peers which resulted in additional funding under the performance funding system. Campus appearance projects, creating collaborative student space, and addressing the $150 million backlog of deferred maintenance have improved the student experience. Future projects will include a renovation of Price Hall, electrical upgrades campus-wide, and continuing with the appearance of campus and collaborative student spaces.

Several of the trustees commented that the campus has never looked more inviting and beautiful and extended their thanks to Mr. Hanelly and the facilities crews.

University Relations Report
Rodney Jenkins, Vice President for University Relations

Mr. Jenkins announced that the Lock Haven Express published its annual Crimson and White Edition, featuring improvements on campus, faculty highlights, international programming, and community service hours performed by students and employees.

Several significant investments in our athletic facilities developed the soccer/baseball/track complex and included a new scoreboard. President Fiorentino commented that the complex is a beautiful, peaceful area and places Lock Haven University in another area of our community.

LHU APSCUF President Report
Stan Berard

Dr. Berard thanked the trustees and administrators for their service, acknowledging the excellent advances the University is making, including the physical changes, which are a positive effort to move the campus forward.

As the union president, Dr. Berard suggested that while the faculty and coaches prepared for the return of students, they were concerned about the collective bargaining process and believe that serious discussions should have begun before the CBA expired in June 2015. This concern of the faculty and coaches precipitated the call for a strike authorization vote.
On behalf of the union faculty, Dr. Berard also communicated concern about the academic planning process and acknowledged the commitment of President Fiorentino to include faculty concerns and judgments as decisions are finalized. Dr. Berard stated that sometimes advancing in one area does necessitate the deletion of other programs.

Special Report
Financial Aid Overview
Robert Fryer, Director

Mr. Fryer spoke about some of the more substantial trends and statistical information from the financial side of the education experience. Scholarship trends for the State System have not kept up with foundations and external opportunities. The Financial Aid Office works with students to guide them to applying for outside scholarships and other financial resources. Private institutions are receiving more state grant funding than students at PASSHE universities because of the increased “sticker price” cost of privates or state affiliated institutions. A student at LHU with no or limited ability to contribute to the cost of education may be able to access the maximum of grants, and would still need to utilize nearly $11,000 in loans to meet tuition, books, housing, and meal plan costs. The vast majority of our student body is not eligible for maximum state grant funding. Lock Haven University utilized nearly $80,000 from its operating budget to assist 170 students who were having difficulties in paying for the gap between financial aid and the cost to attend LHU. These funds are not guaranteed to be available from year-to-year.
